Highlights

- Better jumpers push harder in the final third of take-off
- Jumps of the same height showed curve shapes almost as varied as the whole sample
- Age differences in youth football players reflected body size and jump height
- Landing profiles formed a continuum, yet most athletes kept theirs across sessions